1.1 The Food Standards Agency require that each local authority publish annually, a service delivery plan specifying the arrangements that they have put in place for the enforcement of food safety, food standards and feedingstuffs standards, for approval by members. Section 18 Guidance from the HSC on the Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974 requires each local authority to publish an annual service delivery plan for the enforcement of occupational health and safety for approval by members.

2.0 Recommendations

2.1 The annexed Service Plan be approved as the Authority's plan for the enforcement of occupational health and safety legislation and the enforcement of food safety, food standards and feeding stuffs legislation during the period 1st April 2005 to 31st March 2006.

(Date 22/08/05)

- The means by which they will meet performance targets and standards
 - A review of the authority's past performance
- 3.3 Section 18 Guidance requires each authority to publish an annual service plan for occupational health and safety enforcement to be published and to provide the following information:
- Future objectives and major issues that cross service boundaries
 - Key programmes including a planned inspection programme in the context of the current HSC Strategic Plan and HELA Strategy
 - Information on the service that is being provided
 - The means by which these services are going to be provided
 - Any performance targets and how they will be achieved
 - A review of the performance to address any variance from meeting the requirements of the service plan

4.0 Financial Implications

- 4.1 There are no additional financial implications above the budget allocation previously approved and currently being implemented. The issues in the service plan concern how current resources will be utilised this year.

5.0 Legal Implications

- 5.1 The Council has a duty to enforce food safety legislation. The Food Standards Act 1999 gave the Food Standards Agency powers to monitor and audit local authority enforcement performance and where performance is unsatisfactory, to take that function away from the failing authority.
- 5.2 The Council has a duty to enforce occupational health and safety legislation. Section 18 Guidance is issued by the Health and Safety Commission to ensure compliance with the Local Authorities duty to provide an effective enforcement service with respect to occupational health and safety. The Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974 requires Local Authorities to make adequate arrangements for the enforcement of health and safety and where this is not found to be adequate the HSE has the power under Regulation 5(2) of the Health and Safety (Enforcement Authority) Regulations 1998 to take that responsibility away

6.0 Diversity Implications

- 6.1 The proposals in this report have been subject to screening and officers believe that there are no diversity implications.

7.0 Staffing/Accommodation Implications (if appropriate)

- 7.1 There are no additional staffing implications suggested by this report
