Central	Consolidation of Communications function across the Council will deliver a coherent corporate communications service. The proposed new structure will allow for communications to be more responsive and effective, stopping low-level reactive work, delivering focused internal communications, and remove duplication of publications and effort.	200
Central	A new system of E-recruitment has been adopted which will bring savings in the cost of arranging and placing job adverts in the press. The anticipated reduction in recruitment levels will also save costs.	150
