The plan has been developed following an analysis of community needs, existing performance indicators and views expressed by children, young people and their families.
- 1.3 The plan sets out six strategic priorities supported by 32 objectives that have been agreed by the Children & Young People's Strategic Partnership Board. The priorities and associated objectives are set out in Appendix 1.
- 1.4 The single Children & Young People's Plan has been available for public and partner consultation since 10th January with the formal consultation period ending on 28th February 2006. 3.0 Detail

3.1 The Children Act places a duty on each local authority to prepare a single strategic, overarching plan for all services for children and young people in the area. The Children and Young People's Plan replaces requirements for seven statutory and ten non-statutory plans. It is expected that the Council will prepare the Plan with its partners and the Brent Children & Young People's Partnership Board has been driving the preparation of the Plan and will be responsible for monitoring its implementation.

3.2 The Plan provides services provided by the Local Authority and all relevant partners to children and young people aged 0 – 19; those over 19 receiving services, including care leavers; and those over 19 and under 25 with learning difficulties. This is a 3 year plan, 2006/9 and will be reviewed annually as part of our annual performance assessment programme.

3.3 Currently, a wide range of plans exist to deliver services to children and young people. The production of a single plan for all services for children and young people in the borough therefore:

- Brings together a shared vision across all partner agencies for children and young people in Brent;
- Demonstrates that all agencies working with children and young people are committed to delivering services in a joined up way;
- Identifies strengths, weaknesses and priority areas to be addressed;
- Focuses on the whole person/family not on the presenting issue itself;
- Sets out key joint outcomes that comprise a combination of indicators across traditional agency boundaries;
- Provides clear leadership and direction for service improvement.

3.4 The Plan considers the context in which children and young people are growing up in Brent. It specifically looks at ethnicity, religion and other socio-economic indicators that impact on factors such as quality of life, educational attainment, ability to engage in democratic processes and the availability of future economic opportunities.

3.5 The Plan acknowledges our trajectory towards integrated services. The commitment to partnership and participation is at the heart of the new inter-agency arrangements. Other critical 'building blocks' are identified in the forms of key structures, processes and delivery mechanisms designed to support multi-level integration from front line delivery to strategic planning and commissioning of services. The whole systems focus on children and young people will enable us to:

- Provide a needs-led personalised service;
- Deliver integrated services for children with similar needs;
- Coordinate the work of stakeholders to achieve the five national outcomes locally.

- 3.6 The joint approach to improving outcomes for children and young people is based on a conceptual model, the Brent Levels of Need Framework. The framework has been developed by practitioners across health, education, social care and community agencies to aid a common understanding of risk by determining thresholds for intervention and identifying accurately, the number of children who would benefit from the provision of preventative services.
- 3.7 The six strategic priorities to improve outcomes for children and young people in Brent are:
- i) Creating the conditions in which children and young people thrive
 - ii) Early years development
 - iii) Education, achievement and school improvement
 - iv) Support for young people and teenagers
 - v) Excluded and vulnerable groups
 - vi) Safeguarding health and well being

Each of these priority areas is broken down further into actions to achieve the priority together with indicators, current performance and targets for each year that the plan is active (2006/07, 2007/08 and 2008/09).

- 3.8 The key components of the plan including vision, priorities and actions for improving outcomes have been the subject of extensive consultation in Autumn 2005. An outline of the plan was discussed at conferences held for Brent young people, headteachers and governors in November 2005. The outline plan was also considered by the Children and Young People's Voluntary Sector Reference Group, the Children and Young People's Partnership Steering Group and the Children and Families Scrutiny Committee. Building on this formative consultation, a draft plan was prepared which has been the subject of further consultation in January and February 2006.

4.0 Financial Implications

- 4.1 Work has begun on the identification of all budgets across the partnership that is spent on services for children and young people, as defined by the Children Act 2004. This is a complex task, as many services are not defined in terms of 'adults' and 'children' and where financial accounting requirements do not easily enable such a split. As an initial statement details of resources allocated to schools and available to the Council's Children and Families Department are attached to the Plan as Appendix 5
- 4.2 Over time the providers of children and young people's services will increasingly work together to plan long term resource strategies and commission services which could be based on pooled budgets. The Children and Young People's Plan is a developmental tool which will be used to shape and drive partners' business planning through establishing a shared assessment of need, and by reflecting a shared set of priorities that address these needs. Through our Local Area Agreements (LAA) we will further develop our plans to pool and align budgets and funding streams to support the achievement of our priorities.

4.3 The financial risks potentially inherent in such arrangements will need to be monitored and managed on an on-going basis across the life of the plan.

5.0 Legal Implications

5.1 The Children and Young People's Plan (England) Regulations 2005 (regulations made pursuant to the Children Act 2004) require that all children's services authorities prepare and publish a Children and Young People's Plan. The plan must set out the improvements the authority will make for children and young people in its area relating to: physical and mental health and emotional well being; protection from harm and neglect; education, training and recreation; the contribution made by them to society; and their social and economic well-being.

5.2 The plan is made in line with the regulations and complies with guidance for the development of the single plan.

6.0 Diversity Implications

6.1 The Brent Children and Young People's Plan is reflective of our diverse community and therefore ensures that the strategic priorities encapsulate these diverse needs. The Plan further seeks to redress issues of equality to ensure that the needs of vulnerable children and young people are equally considered.

6.2 The Children & Families Department has developed an equalities action plan that directly links to the six strategic priorities and considers all six standards of the Equalities Standards for Local Government.

7.0 Staffing/Accommodation Implications (if appropriate)

7.1 No staffing/accommodation implications arise as a result of this Plan.
