None arising.

5. Budget Strategy 2012/13 to 2015/16

Mick Bowden (Deputy Director of Finance and Corporate Services) introduced the report before members which set out the financial prospects for the Council for the next four years. The report had previously been submitted to the Executive on 18 July 2011. He reminded members that during last year a funding gap of £100m had been identified over the four years to 2014/15. The 2011/12 budget included in excess of £40m savings and table 1 in the report showed a mid-point forecast of an additional £60.6m being required. The report went on to explain the change to the way business rates would be distributed. Details of the changes were still to be issued but it was clear that it would change the Council's relationship with central government regarding funding and provide greater links with business growth within the borough. Mick Bowden suggested this might be an area the Committee would want to consider later in the year.

Mick Bowden pointed out the implications of the Localism Bill on setting Council Tax rates as set out in paragraph 3.6 of the report. He added that there were no proposals for a new Council Tax freeze grant relating to 2012/13. He drew attention to the chart showing a comparison of Brent Council Tax levels from 2006/07 to expected levels if adjusted at the rate of inflation (RPI). This showed that inflation was running ahead of Council Tax levels.

With reference to the capital programme, Mick Bowden pointed out the revenue impact of this. The schools programme of £24.522m was an area he suggested that Committee might want to look at in more detail.

Finally, Mick Bowden explained the budget strategy outlined in the report to respond to the financial position faced by the Council.

In answer to questions concerning interest rates, inflation and pension contributions, Mick Bowden explained that short-term interest rates did not have much of a direct bearing on the level of Council spend. As an investor higher rates would be advantageous but the Council's borrowing was done on a long-term basis and those interest rates did not always move in line with short-term rates. The level of inflation was based on projections over the medium term and increases in pension fund contributions were based on those set out by the Pension Fund Actuary. The Hutton review had suggested changes to the pension scheme but this had not been factored into the budget. Any changes would come through into the budget via the next Actuary's report.

A question was asked around the level of balances and why it was proposed to add to these. Mick Bowden referred to paragraph 4.6 of the Budget and Finance Overview and Scrutiny Committee's final report dated February 2011, which showed that the Director of Finance and Corporate Resources advised that a reasonable level of balances for the Council, given the increased risks, was between £12m to £15m. The budget strategy was to move closer to this figure. An alternative view was put forward that a higher level of reserves was not necessary. This was felt to be another area the Committee might want to consider further.

In response to a question on the level of redundancy costs the Council had incurred in 2011/12 Mick Bowden responded that selection processes were still underway and until these had been completed the figures were not yet known.

The budget strategy for 2012/13 to 2015/16 was noted and the points raised for further consideration were taken forward to the next item on the work programme.

6. Budget and Finance Overview and Scrutiny Committee 2011/12 - Work Programme

Members considered the work of the Committee during 2010/11 and the issues arising from consideration of the 2012/13 - 2015/16 budget strategy.

The chair summarised the issues that had been raised at the meeting as follows:

Implications of the changes to resourcing local government, especially proposals for Business Rate retention

Achievement of One Council savings

Implications of unsupported borrowing, with particular reference to school places

The 2012/13 budget strategy

Changes to the welfare benefits system

The level of balances

The cost to the council of redundancies

Implication of any change in the council's contributions to pensions

The committee was also reminded that it had in the past called before it each of the service area directors for an explanation of the budget pressures they faced.

Further to the recommendation of the committee in its final report that a level of overspend of 5% should automatically trigger an appearance before it of the responsible director and Lead Member, it was agreed that future budget updates to the committee should highlight areas of 5%+ overspend.

The Chair explained that the committee only had a limited time within which to carry out its work and therefore not all the items identified above could be fully explored.

It was agreed that for the next meeting the committee should receive an update on the budget, consider the changes arising from the local government resource review and invite the Director of Children and Families to attend.

7. Any Other Urgent Business

None.

8. Date of Next Meeting

It was noted that the next meeting of the committee would take place on 13 September 2011.

The meeting closed at 8.40 pm
