

Call to ban dogs from Paddington Old Cemetery in Kilburn

16th October

CELEBRITIES LOCAL GOVERNMENT KILBURN LONDON

By Nathalie Raffray

X@HamandHigh

Senior Reporter

Share

11 Comments

Hundreds of people have joined a call to ban dogs from the cemetery where Paddington creator Michael Bond is buried because they "urinate and defecate" over graves.

More than 800 people have petitioned Brent Council to ban all dogs except guide dogs from Paddington Old Cemetery, saying dogs roaming off the lead use the grounds "as a toilet".

Michael Bond, who lived in Maida Vale and is best known for his Paddington Bear books, died in 2017 is among those buried at the cemetery, in Willesden Lane, Kilburn.

Recommended by  Outbrain

Before you leave, look at these selected top stories

Before you leave, look at these selected top stories

Before you leave, look at these selected top stories

Before you leave, look at these selected top stories

Before you leave, look at these selected top stories

Before you leave, look at these selected top stories

Before you leave, look at these selected top stories

Before you leave, look at these selected top stories

