

The proliferation of gambling shops on our high street and shopping centres is an environmental and social curse because of its negative impact on the mental health on residents/ communities who can least afford to gamble. I therefore object to more gambling licenses.