I strongly object - the area has already seen a slide in demographic with anti social behaviour, drug abuse, and begging. I have been born and raised in Willesden, and the decline is worrying. My children are very young and are afraid to walk the high street, bring this sort of organisation into the area will only worsen the amount of anti social behaviour which is on the rise. There are enough gambling shops up the road on the cricklewood Broadway there is no need to bring this sort of atmosphere to Willesden Green.
