There are already betting shops ,a casino , slot machines and a bingo hall in this area so another gambling venue is not needed. There is already too much antisocial behaviour and crime in this area and people struggling financially. There is no benefit to the community having a venue like this in the area and will only make it worse. There are no police stations in the local area and it is evident that the police are struggling to manage the current anti social behaviour, and crime that is already happening every day in this area. I am concerned that anothe gambling venue will only make Willesden worse for residents, especially the vulnerable, those with addictions and families.
