I just noticed this application and I can't believe the high street is going to have another one of them. We already have several in walm lane and in willesden high street and we do know that these don't bring any good to people and the high streets. These gambling centers actually destroy the high street, bring anti social behaviour and affect mainly already vulnerable people. I strongly feel that the Willesden high street really don't need another one of them.
