The man appropriated the property without making adequate enquiries as to who it belonged to and as such has permanently deprived. VIW1 said to the manageress "excuse me you are the manager, you should pick the wallet up and ask who it belongs to or wait for someone to ask if one's been handed in. And then check to see if it is theirs. Not just let someone pick it up." VIW then got cross because his wallet had been taken and the manageress hadn't made sufficient checks to find out who it belonged to. VIW was difficult to understand in the shop, his English quite broken and he was also under stress and concerned about his health.

He insisted on handing everybody his letters from the doctor regarding his health issues. this is from the hospital about his previous stroke.

His English was sufficient when spoken to slowly to be able to get an account and description from his details were obtained from the letters.

He stated that he had been at the fruit machine opposite the cashiers desk and that one of the suspects had been standing right next to him and the VIW had then told him to move away from him and not to touch him.

The VIW appears to have proximity and personal space issues. Staff and other customers (who declined their details) stated that he had been complaining of people coming near him and again handing people the letter from the doctor saying that people cannot touch him.

The VIW stated that the suspect had then become aggressive shouting and swearing at him, had moved away to speak to a friend (the other suspect) and then come back to him both shouting at him one of the suspects had then punched him on the right side of the face and in the chest. he seems unsure which suspect had punched him and stated that there was another third suspect stood nearby shouting at him. this person was mentioned at the last minute and is not believed to be involved and as such has not been put as a suspect of this case.

VIW2 works atvenue. VIW2 had made observations that another male not SUSP1, was playing on one of the machines. VIW2 believed that this male was under age and had won a sum of money to £13.40. Due to this she challenged him on his age and asked for ID. He could not provide this so was asked to leave. He would not leave so VIW2 disconnected the machine. This male was able to print a ticket to show he had won. He then left.

SUSP1 then approached VIW2 with a ticket with the winning value of £13.40. VIW2 with knowledge of the other male, knew that she could not serve him as the ticket was won by someone under age.

VIW2 made extra efforts to call other branches to see if she was able to pay SUSP1 this money. She was informed she could not and explained this to SUSP1.

SUSP1 was not at all happy with this decision and began to become very aggressive. He was stood at the counter, in hearing of the other memebers of the public, shouting and swearing. This made VIW 2 very scared and believed him when he said that he was going to "smash up all the machines"!

VIW2 does not usually have any problem with ejecting people from the shop but was scared by SUSP1, due to his demeanor and believed this was genuine threats.

VIW2 then called police and shortly after police arrived on scene. The allegation was said in the hearing of SUSP1 and he was arrested and cautioned at 18:49hours.

SUS1 who is unknown to the victim and has never been seen in her shop before came up to the counter to place a £15 single bet on the 11:28 dog race. Thinking the suspect maybe underage, VIW1 challenged him and asked him for some ID. Tired of the abuse, VIW1 refused his bet and asked him to leave the shop as he was not going to be served due to his attitude. SUS1 then said to VIW1 "I'm going to kill you. Do you want me to kill you right here, right now?" "You better watch yourself when your around Kilburn" "I'm gonna send a girl down here to bash your head in". Generally scared for her safety, VIW1 picked up the phone to call police. SUS1 said "Are you calling your boyfriend? Call your boyfriend down here and I'll kill him too". I have been out of prison for 2 days. I lost my brother a few weeks ago, you dont know what I have been through". VIW1 was worried as she has never seen someone react in such an aggressive manner and the way he was acting it was the first time where she actually believed that not only was this person willing to carry out the threat but wanted to carry out the threat as well. SUS1 eventually left the store. Even though VIW1 was not physically touched or assaulted during the incident. The informant was the duty manager at the time of the incident, she states a male who she does not recognise has been playing the fruit machine, he appeared to be losing a lot of money but she does not know how much.

He has then become angry and aggressive and has begun punching the machine, this has been done so often and so hard that it has cracked the screen causing between £5/600 worth of damage.

The male has then made off after being challenged by staff
